PERSONALS.

Capt. Sam E. Hill spent a day or two in Dunbar last week.
Judge R. S. Moseley has returned to Athens. He will probably be followed by his family in the spring.

Mrs. Lucy Edson and Mrs. Joplin, of Elizabethtown, are in town. They came down last week to see Mr. Z. Wayne Griffin.

Mr. and Mrs. John Collins are visiting their parents at this place. The fire at the Sandusky House, last week, left them without a shelter in Central City.

Mr. Henry M. Henry, accompanied by his friend, M. W. P. Kent, of Owensboro, paid his father's family a short visit. His many friends are always glad to see Prince Hal and to meet the friends he usually brings with him.

Misses Jennie and Della McCreary, of Owensboro, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Neffs, on Market street, since Thursday last, returned home yesterday. They had quite a pleasant visit, and their friends hope they will soon repeat it.

Mr. Ed Edmestock, late of the big Steinhil house, Cincinnati, but formerly of Gettysburg, Penn., the birth place of the Bazar man, is visiting the family of W. A. Anderson. Mr. Edmestock is said to be the finest dress goods man in the West, and has forgotten more about fine faces and fancy goods than is given to ordinary mortals to know in a normal life time. We think the Bazar man ought to try to retain him.

Sunday morning last, Hartford, Florida party, consisting of Dr. S. L. Berry, Messrs. J. H. and Luther Pomeroy and J. W. Ford, pulled out for the land of flowers. They will be gone several weeks and anticipate a splendid time. Mr. Berry will spend a portion of his time looking out a situation in the sunny South where he will make his home in the near future. We shall regret very much to lose him and his family.

Mr. Z. Wayne Griffin has been very ill for over a week. Last Saturday and Sunday the greatest fear was entertained for his life, but at the time of this writing he has improved very much, and hopes of his recovery are beginning to be entertained. We sincerely wish that he may recover, for the town and county are in debt to him, and his recovery will be a great boon to the friends and relatives.

Our friend, Louis Taylor, of Holter county, called to see Monday night. Always glad to see him, we were never more so than on this occasion. He has just completed a five months' school in the free State, and looks as fresh as the rose here after his long sojourn of hard work. His school closed with an exhibition, which was a very complete success. We understand that Mr. Taylor has designs on Ohio county. He is not thinking of becoming a citizen.

New sheet music at Ford's.
Red Front is the place to sell your furs.

Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, fifty cents.
Boys' home-made wool socks at Anderson's Bazaar.

The merry skaters have been making the most of the ice for the past few days. A deal of fine sport has been had.

See J. H. Hensley, marble dealer South Carrollton, Ky., before you buy your monuments, tombstones, etc. He does the best work at the lowest price.

The party given by Mrs. Patton last Wednesday night, was what we predicted it would be, a success. A description of it would, however, be a repetition of the many elegant occasions of the same kind which have occurred there, only we might say of this that whatever others have proven to be this was just a little more so.

The young ladies of the A. B. G. Society debated last Friday evening the question, "Resolved, That a spoken declaration of love by a young man is more forcible and more acceptable than a written one." We know of no young ladies better qualified to pass intelligent and experienced judgment on this question than those of the A. B. G. Society. If each one of them has not had the experience claimed by one of them, the boys of their acquaintance must be the most cowardly wretches imaginable, for we know their charms are irresistible (if we could be allowed to quote, we might say we speak from limited (?) experience) and if every victim has spoken or written the number to each A. B. G. is above rather than below the count made by the one whose speech we give. In reference to the speech, we say that our stenographer nearly gave himself to death hiding under a bench in a back corner to get the speech, but he got it. We know our readers will thank us for the speech is a literary gain aside from its value as a complete expose of what girls think about things.

Remember you can buy a good sewing machine with cover for $20 at Anderson's Bazaar.

—Pick's toothache-drops cure in one minute.

—All the late music can be had at Ford's.

—Second term of the academic year begins next Monday.

—An unusually good stock of home-made carpets at Anderson's Bazaar.

—The cheapest sugars, coffees and molasses in Hartford at the Red Front.

—Ladies' rubber gloves for home work at Anderson's Bazaar. You can wash dishes in them.

—Intermediate examination of all the classes of Hartford College begins today.

—Anderson's Bazaar has reduced the price of new hats and overcoats. Now is your time to buy.

—Wanted, at the Red Front some nice fat hens, turkeys, and all kinds of country produce. Will pay big prices.

—The best specialty remedies when absolute cures are desired with Dr. Williams' Suffering Sufferers.

—David Allen's wife died, a few miles above town, Monday morning. Her child, two days old, died Sunday morning.

—The examination now in progress at Hartford College is a very interesting one. Our friends who can do so should call.

—Any piece of sheet music can be had at Ford's. It is not on hand but will be ordered if at once. It is all sold at publisher's prices.

—Since adopting the cash system, the Red Front is selling groceries, produce and provisions, cheaper than any other house in town.

—Nolin, Hardin county, is infected with smallpox; several cases have proved fatal and fears are entertained that the disease will spread still further.

—Ed Hall and Ben Midkiff had an amateur prize fight in Lookersburg last week. Ben, very properly, objected to his opponent's sister-in-law and the fight arose therefrom.

—The United States Life Insurance Company issues a policy incontestable after three years. A thing that no other life insurance company in existence does. John P. Barrett, Agent, Hartford, Ky.

—Nearly all the ice-houses have been filled during the present cold snap. There is not of an exceptionally good quality, but it is so far in advance of the quality of last season that we can put up with it.

—The United States Life Insurance Company pays all policy claims as soon as satisfactory proofs have been submitted to and approved by the Committee on Claims without waiting ninety, sixty or any other number of days and without discount.

—Fred Worcester's New Year's greeting is "Be true, be true, be true." This applies to those persons who have promised to pay him for work and failed to do so. He does not want any more promises unless they are fulfilled before-hand.

—The attention of our liquor men and druggists is called this week to the advertisement of S. E. Brown & Co., wholesale dealers in pure whiskeys, vinegars, etc. This house is one of the best in Louisville, and our friends in that line of business should try them once.

—These know-it-all fellows, indelible to me will please call and settle at once. Mr. W. H. Short, my clerk, is authorized by me to settle with all my outstanding claims. No further time will be extended those in arrears.

Respectfully,
J. W. Ford, Hartford.

—Miss Mary Annand had a birthday supper at her home in the country last Thursday evening. Quite a number of friends, including several from town, were invited and were present.

A most pleasant evening was spent by all the guests and they all join, together with the many who could not be there, in wishing many happy returns of the anniversary of her nativity.

A gentleman came to us yesterday and expressed a wish that his time was not wasted in his why, and he answered that he was anxious to have the pleasure of receiving it. He was a well-known man in the Herald and he left his card with us to be sent to him.

—We have received several letters from parties who have names upon the delinquent list, requesting us to withhold their names from the list. One gentleman referred to as "a disgrace." We regret to say that several of the letters were received too late. Our aim in publishing the delinquents is not to needlessly expose anybody, but to do a kind turn to the county by showing them who do and who do not pay taxes.

We expected the list to wake some of the folks up and we believe it will do it.

—Our readers will doubtless expect something more about the County Court this week, and will be disappointed in not finding it. Our excuse is this that we expected a review of the whole matter from the County Judge and deferred writing anything until we had received his article. At a late hour yesterday we were informed that the business of the Quarterly Court, which is now in session, is so pressing that he has no time to get it up. He will probably get it ready for the press in time for next week's paper. If he does not we will have to push along without him, though his report would doubtless throw a great deal of light on obscure corners and aid us very materially in arriving at bottom facts and figures.

—The United States Life Insurance Company issues a policy incontestable after three years. A thing that no other life insurance company in existence does. John P. Barrett, Agent, Hartford, Ky.

—Mr. T. J. Smith has bought the Berry's house on Clay street. This is one of the most desirable situations in town, and Mr. Smith is to be congratulated on his bargain. The price paid was $1,200.

—J. B. Brown, of South Carrollton, Ky., owns one of the best stone quarries in the State, and as an evidence of the line quality and durability of said stone, his quarry furnished the stone work for the railroad bridges across Green river at Backport and Livermore, hence having an inextinguishable amount of the best article of stone within a few hundred yards of his marble yard, gives him advantages in furnishing the country with cemetery work over any other marble yard in the Green River country, hence this is one reason why he can and does sell headstones and monuments for less money than any other establishment in the State, and if you wish to be convinced of this fact call at his office and he will take pleasure in showing you the different grades and qualities of marble and the various styles and designs of headstones and monuments and give you the prices of some accordingly, and if you need anything in his line you will be satisfied that you can get elsewhere.

—In another column are a few specifications for parties desiring to furnish law-makers for the people. The article is not as extensive as it might be for lack of space, but still it is distinctly suggestive in places of the kind of man needed for this county, and every other county, at Frankfort for the ensuing two years. Our mind is not the only one that has been bestowed a thought on the subject, as we find by circulating among the people and feeling their sentiment in regard to the matter. We have been spoken to several times in regard to probable candidates, but we have known nothing. Among the names mentioned hitherto, we find that of Mr. W. T. Chapman, of this place, occupying a very prominent position and we think deservingly so. We do not know if he would consent to become a candidate for the nomination, but if he should do so we know no man better qualified to make a careful, faithful, honest representative of the people's interests than he. Of mature age, well-sound mind, his business ability, as evidenced by his past success, thorough knowledge of men and things and many other sterling qualities, we regard him as particularly eligible to the position and can assure the people, did they need such assurance, that he could entrust their legislative business to no one who could guard it better or more efficiently serve them than Mr. Chapman. He is a Democrat of the old school, to be a member of which requires the most thorough knowledge and observance of the Jeffersonian watchwords of "honesty and capability," and in no event could he fall short of fulfilling them to the utmost letter.

The County's Case.

The case of the Ohio County Court against C. W. Phillips, late Sheriff, and his sureties was argued before J. H. Weller, Special Judge, in the County Court on Monday last.

Nearly the whole bar was engaged. McHenry & Hill, Judge Gregory and Judge Massie represented the defendant; Walker & Hubbard, H. B. Kinsolving and J. P. Sanderfer for the plaintiff.

The action was held upon a demurrer to the petition. It seems that the county levy was laid after the bond was executed, and the sureties claimed that the bond was no finding on them for that reason. The debate upon the question was caused by some conflicting opinions of the Court of Appeals on the Statute regulating the taking of the bond. The Statute says that the Sheriff shall, at the term of the Court when the levy is laid, or subsequently, before he proceeds to collect the same, execute bond, &c. In a case styled Maynard vs. The Commonwealth, the Court of Appeals ruled that a bond given in August and a levy laid in November was not a binding obligation on the sureties, and the chief question in argument was, did this ruling apply where the levy and bond were made at the same term of the County Court?

The counsel for the plaintiff presented and read an elaborate array of authorities contending that the Maynard case was not sound in reason, was in conflict with a long line of authorities by the same Court in similar cases, and in addition, that the case did not apply to the facts of the case upon trial.

There being $1,000 depending upon the result, perhaps the best legal arguments were made that have been heard here in many years.

Special Judge Weller took the matter under advisement and overruled the demurrer, or, in other words, held that the bond was valid, and that the sureties must pay the debt.

It will be a matter of interest to the people, for it is their money which has been collected and not paid where it should have been.

The attorneys representing the county express themselves confidently that they will save the money for the county should the case be appealed.

The decision of Judge Weller will be appreciated, for it is bad enough to pay money once, and much worse to pay it twice.

The county has the best of counsel and we are certain that its interests will be carefully represented.

Hartford College.

The programme of the Intermediate examination of this school will be held elsewhere in this issue. Those wishing to witness thorough College work and class drill will find it to their interest to attend. We assure all that they will be amply paid for their time and attention. Everything that could be done to secure proficiency in the different branches taught and thorough discipline among the students has been resorted to by the able President and his efficient Faculty. The term now closing has been one of just and merited success. In no institution of learning have there been bestowed upon students more care and attention and untiring labor.

All connected with the management of the respective departments have labored with an eye single to the comfort and progress of those entrusted to their charge. A number of new students are expected next week. The ensuing term will be largely represented by young ladies and gentlemen from the different counties in the Green River country, and we assure those wishing to secure a first-class education that they cannot do better elsewhere. The second term begins Jan. 22, 1883. Send postal to Prof. W. Alexander for catalogue or terms.

A Sad Death.

Mrs. Samuel Hoover, of Barrett's Creek neighborhood, drowned herself in a well Monday morning of last week, a short time before daylight. She got up a little earlier than her usual time and dressed herself and left the house without being observed. She went about a half mile from home and threw herself into a well on the farm of Mr. Patton. After daylight search was made for her about home and she could not be found. The neighbors were then alarmed and the neighborhood was scoured. All day Monday and half the night and all day Tuesday the search was kept up, though by this time it was thought well nigh hopeless.

Wednesday morning it was again renewed and two boys who were searching Mr. Patton's farm went to the well. They looked in and saw a woman's hair floating on the water. They informed other members of the party and the body was taken out of about two or three feet of water. The well was some thirty feet deep.

Mrs. Hoover was a lady of more than middle age and was as highly esteemed among her acquaintances as extreme amiability and goodness of heart could cause one to be esteemed. She was a friend to everybody and to call for kindness or charity was ever passed by her unheeded. The gentleman who gave us the sad news of her death informed us that she was "especially famous for her visitations to the sick" and that "she was the best nurse in all our country." For nearly a year her mind had shown a weakening tendency, and it is thought that she ended her life in a fit of aberration stronger than usual. The bereaved relatives have our sympathy.
